

Happy Easter!

Happy Easter! Oh, the candy factory is going full speed, and the bunnies are hopping, hopping to finish putting together the Easter baskets for me to deliver. Oh, I love my job! I love to travel all over the world, visiting the good children and leaving treats. What a happy time! Spring is my favorite time of year. The Carrot Patch is humming with the joy of bunnies preparing for the big day.

But spring is also my favorite time of year because the flowers are blooming anew. I so look forward to that first crocus peeking through the ground. Because it signals a fresh start to the world. Sure, chocolate bunnies and marshmallow chicks and jellybeans are fun to get, but Easter is about so much more than candy. Easter is a celebration of life, and a reminder of how Christ died for us, to atone for our sins. He loved us so much, that he sacrificed himself on the cross to give us the greatest gift of all: salvation, and eternal life. And just as Jesus was resurrected on Easter Sunday, we too are reborn, because of him. What a wonderful gift to receive!

So I guess you could say that Easter is all about giving, really. And I love to give! I love my job as the Easter Bunny. Because when you give to others, you receive so much more than you share. Jesus understood that completely. And I get so much joy bringing a sweet little treat to you! That's what makes me happy.

So this Easter, think about the little acts of kindness you can do in your own life. It doesn't have to be big at all. It can be as simple as sharing your Easter candy with someone special. Or planting a flower for all the world to enjoy.

I'll see you soon, when I hop down the bunny trail straight to your house. Until then, I'm sending you lots and lots of Bunny Hugs and Kisses, and Chocolate Wishes.

Have a very happy, and very blessed, Easter!

Love,

The Easter Bunny
