

You lost a tooth!

Oh, what perfect timing! Spring is the season of renewal, and losing your tooth just means that a new one is ready to take its place. That's what I love about being the tooth fairy, and the best part about spring--that everything becomes new again.

Do you know why I collect all the lost teeth? Because here in FairyLand, they grow into beautiful flowers. There is nothing more perfect than a spring day spent in the garden. Of course, planting your teeth doesn't work where you live, but here in FairyLand, it's magic! And out in my garden, all the lost teeth grow into beautiful flowers, with just a little bit of tending and care.

I wish you could see the garden here. Flowers of all shapes and sizes, but each one tall. But you see, I'm a fairy, and very little, so all flowers are tall to me, even the very small ones! Oh, I love to fly about the garden, zooming in here and there to smell the perfume of the flowers. I think my favorite spring flowers are the tulips and the daffodils. What are your favorite flowers? There's something about spring, that freshness in the air, a glow from the morning dew on the petals. It's as if the world is born anew each year. And you are blooming too! A new tooth is growing inside of you, waiting to peek out, just like a flower in my garden. For you see, when one tooth falls away, another takes its place. It's the same with flowers.

But just the way the flowers need water and sunshine, your teeth need brushing and flossing. And they need the right foods to keep them strong and healthy. Just as I take good care of my garden, you need to take good care of your teeth, every day.

Spring just makes me so happy. But then so do you! I love to visit you. Spring is all about new beginnings, and losing your tooth just means a new beginning for you too. I wish I could draw you a picture of my garden, but it would be too tiny for you to see. But you should see all the colors. What are your favorite colors? I think pink and purple are my favorite colors. I can't wait to see what color this tooth will turn out to be when I plant it. But whatever color it is, I will love it, because it will remind me of you, and you always make me smile.

Enjoy the spring. I'm thinking of you always as I flit about my garden.

Love,

The Tooth Fairy
