

You lost a tooth!

Brr! It's cold outside, even here in FairyLand. There's a nip in the air. But I still love flying about the garden, checking on the flowers. Each season a new crop of flowers sprouts, and I love the winter whites and dark purples. Thank you for leaving me another tooth! I planted it, straight away in my garden. It's magic, the garden here in FairyLand, which is why all the lost teeth grow into beautiful flowers. But it's also a magical time of year. It may feel like everything has gone to sleep for the winter, but magic is hard at work underneath the ground. And deep inside your gums. Because a new tooth is growing and getting ready to pop out and take its place in your mouth!

Are you enjoying the holidays? Oh, there are lots of holidays: Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Hanukkah, Kwanzaa, New Year's. It's a celebration of the new year to come, and that means lots of sweet treats. But don't forget to floss and eat the right foods. That means lots of fruit and vegetables. Teeth are like flowers, they need the right food and care to grow straight and strong. Candy tastes so good, but it's not always nice to our teeth.

The snow is falling here, just a little. I love to watch the snowflakes drift down to the ground, or land on a flower petal. Each snowflake is different, just like the flowers in my garden, and just like the children of the world. But they are all so beautiful. And you are growing into such a beautiful flower!

I'm so happy I got a chance to visit you again. You make me so happy! Friends like you are the best presents to receive during the holidays--or any time of the year. Enjoy all the holiday fun! But remember, just a little bit of candy goes a long way.

Stay sweet!

Love,
